Proposal Made To Erect Factory, New Industries Sought

Town Has Another Inquiry From Prospective Industry, Will Study Building New Factory

Inquiries made from time to time from new industries or industries seeking a new location seem to come to an end when the parties learn that there are no empty factory buildings available here, Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales told The Era this week.

"We are losing an industry now because we haven't larger accommodation available, and we also have another inquiry at the moment from a promising new industry which is not in production," Dr. Dales said.

"There seems to be a good deal of opinion in favor of erecting a factory building which would accommodate several industries," Dr. Dales said. "Probably there would have to be a vote of the people in favor of the proposal.

"The council will be asked to study this question at an early meeting. In the meantime members of the council would be glad to hear from citizens having opinions on the matter."

Deputy-Reeve Jesse Cook Of Whitchurch Dies At 58

Stricken During Fifth Term Of Service As Deputy-Reeve

The funeral service for the late Deputy-Reeve Jesse Cook of Whitchurch, who died last Saturday, was held in Stouffville United church on Tuesday. Many members of York county council and local municipal bodies attended.

Mr. Cook was born in Scarboro township 58 years ago. He farmed for a number of years in Whitchurch and retired recently. At the time of his death, he was serving his fifth term as deputy-reeve and had previously been a member of the Whitchurch council.

His second wife, Marjory Stewart, whom he married one year ago Monday, and a sister, Mrs. N. Gayman, survive. Mr. Cook was a member of the Masonic order and I.O.O.F. lodge and also was a member of the Stouffville Lions club.

After a private funeral at his residence, a public service was conducted by Rev. Levi E. Atkinson in Stouffville United church. Pallbearers were Reeve C. Earl Toole, Councillor Herman Kidd, Councillor R. Wells, Councillor George Leary, Clerk John Crawford and Superintendent Henry Widdifield, all of Whitchurch. Interment was in Heise Hill cemetery, Stouffville.

Few Apply At Air Force Mobile Unit

Few applications for the air force were received when the R.C.A.F. mobile unit visited Newmarket last Friday.

"We had a few inquiries, but not very many," Flying-Officer R. Key, in charge of the unit, told The Era. He said that the town was probably "weeded out" of air force material because of its nearness to air force headquarters in Toronto.

Local youths, who are eager to join the air force, likely would not wait for the mobile unit to come around, the flying officer indicated.

QUILT PROCEEDS AID WAR VICTIMS

Miss Esther Widdifield, Millard Ave., won the quilt which was raffled off in aid of the British war victims' fund at Brunton's store last Saturday. The quilt was donated by Mrs. Albert Trivett, Newmarket, and $20.50 was realized for the fund.

PHONOGRAPH RECORDS ARE WANTED FOR CAMP

Any citizens who have phonograph records for which they have no use, are asked to please donate them to the local military camp. Anyone having any of these records please get in touch with A. N. Belugin, Newmarket, phone 516, and the records will be called for.

CAR STOLEN, IS FOUND IN BARRIE

Max Boag had his car stolen last evening about ten p.m., while he was attending a soldiers' comforts meeting in the I.O.O.F. hall, Millard Ave.

It was recovered by the police in Barrie and he was in possession of it again this morning.

Contrary to his usual custom, Mr. Boag left the keys in his car, as he was in a hurry, having several meetings to attend.

CREW OF THE PINAFORE WILL FROLIC TONIGHT

The Pickering College Glee club and a group of assisting artists this evening present Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore," at the college. The production will be repeated Friday and Saturday evenings.

CHANGE MARKET DAY FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Beginning the week after next, the market will be held on Saturday mornings during the spring and summer months. Friday will be market day this week and next, and the first Saturday market will be on April 12.

SUFFERS STROKE

George Haines, brother of Mrs. Charles Lewis, Yonge St., suffered a partial stroke on Friday but is improving since then. Mr. Haines lives with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

GREAT WAR VETERAN, JOHN CASTLE DIES

Ill for less than a week, John Castle of Queensville died of pneumonia at York county hospital on Saturday. He would have been 75 years old this month.

Mr. Castle was born in England, but had spent the greater part of his life in Canada. He was a veteran of the great war.

He lived in Barrie for 32 years, where he belonged to the Church of England and where he was also active in the veterans' organization. He married the former Edna May Morley of Toronto, who survives him, on Nov. 10, 1917.

After living in Barrie Mr. Castle and family lived in Thornton, Cookstown and Newmarket, from where they moved to Queensville. Mr. Castle was a gardener by profession.

Surviving besides his widow are three daughters and a son, Mrs. Cyril Keats (Irene), Newmarket, Marion, James and Edna at home.

The funeral service was held at his residence at Queensville on Monday, conducted by Rev. Hugh Shannon. Members of the Newmarket Veterans' Association took part in the service, and the Last Post was played on the cornet by Jack Arlitt. Pallbearers were Wm. White, Chas. Hayes, Fred Hoare, Harvey McCordick, J. Morritt, Floyd Mabee, Wm. Denne, members of the Newmarket Veterans' Association, and Jack Arlitt. Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

LARRY MOLYNEAUX IS IN AMERICAN FINALS

Lawrence (Larry) Molyneaux, of the Cleveland Barons, Newmarket boy in big-time hockey, is marking time in Cleveland with his team-mates before starting in the final round of the American hockey league championship.

Cleveland, who finished first in their section have knocked Providence Reds out of the playoffs and now await either Pittsburgh or Hershey, who are at present engaged in a do-or-die series.

PAPER STARTS FIRE

A fire which started in the basement of the home of Charles Moffat, Queen St., yesterday afternoon, was quickly extinguished before it caused much damage.

It is believed that while Mrs. Moffat was burning papers in the furnace, one of the lighted papers dropped back onto the floor and spread the blaze. The house was filled with smoke. However, firemen directed water into the cellar and smothered the flames.

FEMALE JURORS APPROVED BY TOWN WOMEN

Are Interviewed On Question Of Women On Juries

ONE LADY SAYS NO

With the provincial legislature at present debating a bill which would allow women to serve on Ontario juries, The Era contacted representative Newmarket women this week for their opinion on the question and received, with one exception, a very definite answer in the affirmative.

"I think they should, absolutely," said Mrs. Arthur Boyd, Yonge St., former district president of the Women's Institute and now Canadianization convenor for the district.

However, Mrs. Boyd thinks that women selected for jury service "should be women well-trained in public life" and not just chosen at random from the voters' list.

"I don't think the men are chosen right," Mrs. Boyd declared. "Just any men should not be allowed on juries."

"How would you go about selecting women for jury duty?" she was asked.

"I would select women such as have proven themselves in public office and public work, broad-minded women. They must be broad-minded women or else they wouldn't be in these organizations."

Mrs. Boyd said that the Women's Institute is one organization "trying to get women to learn about public affairs."

"Yes, I think they should be allowed on juries," stated Mrs. W. O. Noble. "Women are allowed in other parliamentary fields, in the legislature and in the senate, and they should be allowed to sit on juries."

"Women are tried before the courts and they should have a say on the juries," declared Mrs. Elmer Starr, Pleasantville.

Mrs. R. D. Brown was quite emphatic that women would make just as capable jurors as men.

"I don't see why women can't give as sane attention as a man," she declared. "I certainly am an advocate that women should be allowed on juries.

"No matter how foolish and flighty a woman appears, if you give her responsibility, she will buckle down and take it, nine times out of ten."

Mrs. Brown said that in her law office experience, "I never found women different from men." She termed the system of choosing men for jury "a haphazard way" and said that even if women were chosen the same way, they would measure up to the male jurors.

"They are doing everything else, why shouldn't they be allowed on juries?" asked Mrs. J. O. Little. "Women are into every other work during this war. They are doing men's jobs now."

Asked if she thought women might not be inclined to allow their sympathies to overrule their judgment while serving on jury, Mrs. Little said she didn't think this would be any more the case with women than with men.

"Some women are hard-boiled and some sympathetic, the same as men," she said.

Mrs. Arthur Evans proved to be opposed to the idea of letting women serve on juries in Ontario.

"No, I do not think they should, in the majority of cases, for they are too prone to be swayed by their heart instead of their head, and that, of course, influences their judgment," said Mrs. Evans.

"Naturally there are exceptions to every rule, but speaking generally I do not advocate women for such work," she declared. "If they depended on their reasoning powers instead of their intuition they would be easier to work with. While I do not belittle a woman's intuition, that power she displays of jumping to a conclusion provokes men, and so, unless it was a jury composed entirely of women, I would say that a mixed jury isn't very satisfactory.

"However, as to their right to sit on a jury, they should be on an equality basis, in this free country of ours. The point is, I take it, not the right to serve on a jury, but a woman's usefulness in such a position. Perhaps I am influenced from the standpoint of a woman in a home—not a business woman."

Mrs. Phil. Hamilton, federated representative from North York on the Women's Institute board, said that passage of the bill would be "a progressive step." She said that if women jurors were chosen wisely, there would be no trouble over too sympathetic or too flighty women jurors.

Mrs. Hamilton said that rural women, through discussion of government affairs and problems at their meetings, "would take the responsibility well."

"I don't know why a woman wouldn't do as good a job on a jury as a man," Mrs. Max Smith, first vice-president of the Newmarket Women's Institute, declared. She said that women, when given the responsibility of jury duty, would adapt themselves quickly to the work and that they had done it in the United States.

Mrs. Walter R. Stephens, a former member of the public school board, said "Even though I don't think women would want the work, they would do it quite as capably as men.

"The percentage of women capable of jury duty would be as high as the men," continued Mrs. Stephens. "Many men are not such capable jurors."

HOME AND SCHOOL CLUB WANTS SCHOOL NURSE, SUPERVISED SUMMER PLAYGROUND

The Newmarket branch of the Home and School Association has undertaken a splendid work in the town of Newmarket and hopes for the full backing of the townsfolk.

The object of the Association is to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child; to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantage in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education; to study educational problems and to raise the standard of home life and national life by strengthening public interest in the development of the boy and girl as individuals and as future Canadian citizens.

It is the hope of the Home and School Association that many more citizens will join the club and by so doing loan the movement their support.

This past year the club has been quite active, though slightly handicapped through lack of funds. Next year they look forward to great accomplishments.

At 8 o'clock on the fourth Tuesday of each month the home and school meetings are held in the Stuart Scott school. Splendid programs are provided.

The following are some of the topics enjoyed during the past year: "The new course of study," presented by Mr. Lapp, B.A., B. Paed., school inspector for Simcoe South; "Meal planning, food cookery and home lighting," by Miss Margaret Stewart, B.A., household science teacher, dietitian and lecturer; "Music appreciation in the schools," by Etoire Mazzoleni of Upper Canada College staff; Christmas concert by school pupils, choir singing, plays, music, marionette show, etc.; lecture on "Old Vienna" by Dr. A. R. Maresch, Pickering College; oratorical contests from both junior and senior classes of the schools; lecture on "A sense of security, the need of a child," by Louise Richardson Rorke, authoress.

"Complexities of Life Today," by Judge Mott of the juvenile court, Toronto; "Books for Boys and Girls," by Reta Lewis, chief librarian, Toronto public library; "Health Education," by C. R. Blackstock, Pickering College; "Foods for health from a nutritional standpoint," by Mrs. C. R. Boulding, Aurora.

These programs have all been very worth-while, but incur considerable expense, for instance, the rental and cartage of extra chairs and the travelling expenses of out-of-town speakers.

Very complete first aid kits have been placed in the classrooms of the three public schools.

Prizes have been awarded to children taking part in the oratorical contests and also monthly prizes to the class-room having the largest parent representation at each meeting. Two dozen new folding chairs were also purchased.

The Association has several projects in view for the coming year, such as helping to support a part-time school nurse and securing supervision for a summer playground for town children and the beautification of the schools by planting shrubs and flowers. Everyone is invited to lend their support to this work.

Red Cross Revue Artists Give Snappy Performance

Mrs. A. N. Belugin Presents Variety Of Talent In Fine Show

Singing, dancing, piano solos, and dramatic monologues of a high calibre made the Red Cross Revue, held in the town hall last Thursday and Friday evenings, an outstanding entertainment.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. A. N. Belugin, was snappy and varied, and maintained the keen interest of the large audiences from first to last. Every number on the program was well done and testified to the careful preparation and painstaking training given by Mrs. Belugin. A. N. Belugin was a witty master of ceremonies.

Ronald Eves opened the program with two nice solos, "Rule Britannia" and "The Navy is Here." Alexandra and Vera Belugin followed with a delightful rendition of "There'll Always Be an England." Eileen Jackson then gave a picturesque little dance entitled "Valse." A dramatic monologue by Virginia Davis entitled "Matter of Perspective," portrayed extremely cleverly the simulated worries of an actress about her new play.

Then came two charming songs by Betty Dales, assisted by a young ladies' chorus. Donald Davis, who had been scheduled to give impersonations, was absent through illness, and Barbara Davis substituted with a striking and graceful oriental dance. Vera Belugin delighted the audience with two solos, "L'Ardita" and the Irish favorite, "A Little Bit of Heaven." Murray Davis convulsed the crowd with his brilliant impersonation of a New York lady in her boudoir, reading her diary.

Alexandra Belugin sang very sympathetically two beautiful numbers, "The Lord's Prayer," and "I Love Thee."

Then came the old maestro, Alex. Eves, and a ballet of devastating beauties, who performed delightfully in "Ten Pretty Girls," and "Strolling Thru the Park One Day."

After the intermission Mary Davis' lovely voice delighted the audience with "Habanera" from Carmen and "Out of the Dusk to You," followed by a pretty dance by Alexandra Belugin. Several piano solos were played by Mary Margaret Webb in her usual gifted style.

Jean Davis, contralto, sang a group of several songs very beautifully. Her opening number, "My Lover is a Muleteer," was very effective.

One of the cleverest numbers on the program was a dance by Barbara Davis, entitled "The Lovers," in which she was costumed half as a girl in evening dress and half as a boy. She gave the impression of two people in a love scene on a park bench, and she was even able to maintain the illusion when she got up and danced.

Marie Draper Lyons, soprano, in a group of songs, including "A Little Song of Life," by Malotte, greatly pleased her hearers.

Major J. H. Craig of the military camp sang "My Old Shako," and "Friend of Mine." Both songs were much enjoyed.

On Friday evening W. A. Walker, tenor, of Toronto, sang two lovely numbers, and then for an encore brought down the house with a duet, sung in tenor and soprano voices, which gave the audience a thrill when he hit the high notes.

The concluding number by Alex. Eves and the ballet "I am going to Maxim's" from "The Merry Widow," was a clever and humorous finish to an unusually pleasant evening. Members of the ballet were: Joan Peppiatt, Isobel Cody, Jean Case, Gloria Peppiatt, Dorothy Dales (Newmarket), Dorothy Dales (Toronto), Doris Eves, Joan Nesbitt, Vera Belugin, Anne Rogers.

Piano accompanists for the singers were Mrs. Thos. Leach, Mrs. A. T. Byram, Mrs. John R. Rumball, Doris Eves, Mrs. C. R. Boulding, Mary Balfour and Mary Margaret Webb.

At the conclusion of the program on Friday evening Mrs. Belugin was presented with a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

A cheque for $120 was turned over to the local Red Cross Society as a result of the concert.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HELP WITH SALVAGE DRIVE

The dominion government department of national war services has this week issued a general request for the saving of all waste material such as paper, metal, textiles, carpets, rags, glassware, foil, rubber, etc., and will make a drive to collect this scrap.

At the request of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, the Boy Scouts will undertake this salvage work in Newmarket and will be contacting citizens and starting collection in the near future.

SALLY ANN'S WORK AMONG FORCES TOLD

Capt. Falle Gives War Services Campaign A Boost

LIONS LEND HAND

Work of the Salvation Army in Canada and overseas for the fighting forces was described briefly by Capt. Ernest J. Falle, of the Salvation Army, in charge of auxiliary services at Newmarket training camp, at the Lions club Monday night.

F. H. Hewson, chairman of the Newmarket auxiliary war services campaign, and Fred Chantler, vice-chairman, were guests of the club. Vice-President Gordon L. Manning was in the chair.

Introducing the speaker, W. M. Cockburn, county vice-chairman for the drive, told of the work of the Salvation Army and the "Y" in the last war and what it had meant to the soldiers.

"Naturally what I say will be colored by the fact that I belong to the Salvation Army, but what I say about the Salvation Army, you can rest assured, applies to the other five organizations as well," said Capt. Falle.

"The Salvation Army has a chain of recreation huts and canteens across Canada and a corps of officers in England.

"There is quite a bit of difference between an active service camp and an N.P.A.M. camp such as we have in Newmarket. In active service camps the auxiliary services construct their own building. In an N.P.A.M. camp the government provides the building.

"Here in Newmarket we have a program which would be similar to that in other camps. On Monday night we have movies. On Tuesday night we usually have a concert party either from Newmarket or Toronto. On Wednesday we have movies, Thursday, boxing or some type of sports.

"On Thursday night, in the sanctuary, we also have a religious service. On Friday night we have a camp program. On Sunday night we have a religious service.

"You would be surprised at the number of family troubles that the boys bring to us.

"In the past few months the Salvation Army has given away seven and a half million sheets of writing-paper, six and a half million envelopes, and countless postcards.

"The Red Cross is doing a great job for the bombed war victims. The Salvation Army is doing similar work. The Red Shield organization in Newmarket is making garments, which are shipped overseas after inspection in Toronto.

"At the Newmarket camp we have been supplying socks, etc., free to active service men. You may hear that they're sold, but they are not. A pair was re-sold the other day by a soldier.

"Any one of the six organizations that have representatives overseas I can assure you is doing a real job. Whatever the organization, the object is the same, to help and uplift.

"The boys are giving up everything they have, not for their country, but for our country. They deserve all we can do for them."

"This combined drive is one of the business-like things that has been accomplished in Canada," said Mr. Hewson. "The York county objective is something over $18,000. The canvassers need every support they can get."

"It is one of the easiest jobs you ever tackled," said Mr. Chantler. "You have something good to sell. The canvassers shouldn't feel that they have a hard task."

"The British war victims' fund is splendid but our own boys come first," said Mr. Cockburn. "Unless our boys are there, there will be a whole lot more war victims."

"I can say from letters I have received from overseas how much the boys appreciate the extra little comforts," added Wm. White.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Miss Viola Hill spent a couple of days in Toronto last week attending the Bell Telephone conference being held in the King Edward hotel.

PLEDGES ARE STILL NEEDED

Although the war savings campaign eases up during the Canadian war services fund drive, those people from Newmarket and district who as yet have not pledged themselves are reminded by P. J. Tod, chairman, that they can take out a war savings pledge at their bank.

Mrs. A. H. Winans is home again after spending several weeks in York county hospital.

United Appeal For Comforts For Boys Launched Locally

More Than $4,000 Sought In Newmarket As Drive Gets Under Way, $18,000 In North York

Combining the appeals of six organizations, the auxiliary war services campaign is now under way.

North York's chairman is H. E. Lambert, manager of the Bank of Toronto at Newmarket. His vice-chairmen are W. M. Cockburn, York county agricultural representative, and W. L. Bosworth, both of Newmarket.

Newmarket chairman is F. H. Hewson, manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, Newmarket. Assisting Mr. Hewson is Fred Chantler, one of Newmarket's top-rank business men.

The objective for Mr. Lambert's entire district, which extends north from Steele's, is set at $18,000, and it is understood that Newmarket's share of this will be something over $4,000.

Ontario chairman is Conn Smythe, Toronto sportsman, and dominion chairman is General A. D. McRae, Vancouver.

The total objective is $5,500,000, which will be distributed among the participating organizations as follows: Canadian Legion, $916,100; Knights of Columbus, $705,000; Salvation Army, $1,426,100; Y. M. C. A., $1,741,000; Y. W. C. A., $289,965; I. O. D. E., $104,000; reserve for expansion, $317,835.

Mr. Lambert is devoting his full time to organization of the canvass throughout the county. A strong organization is swinging into action in Newmarket and will be calling on every citizen.

IS WITH R.C.A.F.

Revisits Homestead Of Old Distinguished County Family

Hon. Jacob Irving Was In Upper Canada Legislature

Col. L. E. W. Irving, D. S. O., of Vancouver, and a member of a family long prominent in the history of North York, is a distinguished visitor in Newmarket this week.

Brother of the late Christopher Harleston Irving, and first cousin of the late Aemilius Jarvis, Col. Irving has lived most of his life in Toronto and Vancouver.

"Bonshaw," the family mansion on Yonge St., just north of Newmarket, was built in 1841 by the Hon. Jacob Aemilius Irving, grandfather of Col. Irving and a member in the legislature of Upper Canada before Ontario (Upper Canada) and Quebec (Lower Canada) joined in a united province. It was the home of his brother, Christopher Harleston Irving, who died in December. The old family estate in Dumfries, Scotland, was also named Bonshaw.

Col. Irving's grandfather was an officer in the 13th Light Dragoons and took part in the battle of Waterloo when Wellington defeated Napoleon. Sir Aemilius Irving, K.C., Col. Irving's father, was an M.P. for Hamilton in the dominion parliament.

"We've always been proud of our connection with North York," Col. Irving told The Era. Col. Irving has a brother, Homfray, living in Toronto, and a sister, Mrs. Louis Sutherland, who resides in Montreal.

CHEER BOYS SO THEY CAN HELP CHURCHILL

The local national war services organization, headed by F. H. Hewson, is capably organized and the canvassers will be making a house-to-house canvass as well as calling on all business houses. Leaflets have been distributed throughout the town showing the objects of the campaign.

The radio and newspapers are daily telling the important message. Executive leaders throughout the nation are giving their time and ability in putting this drive over. Wendell Willkie came to Canada and gave of his time to spur the nation on and it is to be hoped Newmarket citizens will be ready with their contributions when the canvassers call, and lend every co-operation in again putting Newmarket's objective of $1,500 over the top. No canvass will be made through the factories as far as the employees are concerned. So householders are urged to be ready for the canvassers when they call.

Remember while folks are making some sacrifice at home, it is nothing compared to the sacrifices the men in colors are making. You are safe in your home—no bombs—no shelters or the wanton destruction of war to contend with.

Give Churchill the tools and let him finish the job.

Heavy Snow Threatens Maple Syrup Season

The maple syrup season is not as yet under way in this district and may be a short and poor one unless the heavy winter snowfall soon clears out of the woods, The Era learned from "maple syrup men" this week.

"No, it isn't started yet," Robert Lewis declared. "However, if this weather keeps up we will likely start next Monday."

Dalton Faris said that it's a late season because the deep snow in the woods makes it impossible to get in to tap the trees. However, he indicated that if the present balmy weather continues, it may melt enough snow to alter the situation.

Mrs. Faris said that over the weekend, farmers were getting a good run of sap from trees near their houses.

STRAIT AND NARROW

Reeve Fred Lundy is quoted as saying that he hasn't heard people objecting to the narrowness of Main St. but he has heard them complain about the parking. If Mr. Lundy has closed his ears to exclamations of disgust from car-drivers held up while transports unload, and unprintable expressions from car-owners whose fenders have been dented, surely he has heard the fenders themselves cry aloud for mercy.

A couple of weeks ago we saw a former mayor of the town involved in a fender-scraping accident in front of our office. We see dozens of such annoying and expensive accidents from our desk in the course of a year. If one little section of Main St. produces so many accidents (although of course that part of Main St. in front of The Era office is the busiest section of the street!), how many accidents does the whole street, in all its narrowness, produce?

IN UNITY STRENGTH

The combined campaign for war charities is a splendid step forward. These six organizations have submitted their financial estimates to a central committee for scrutiny and paring, and have accepted the revised appropriations. It only remains to raise the money. This should be a lot easier to do with the advertising, organization and efforts of all these institutions combined. Co-operation will accomplish wonders.

In our opinion the Newmarket committee should follow the example of many other local committees and publish the gifts. There are people ready to say that they do not want their good works published, but there are also people who hide their evil works under a lack of publicity. We are not pointing at others either. The writer sometimes gives less than he would give if his gift was to be exposed to the light of day. He is human enough to give less than would "hurt" when the public is not going to be able to check up on him, and to give more generously when he is going to receive credit for what he gives.

The success of the Toronto Telegram British war victims' fund, which now approaches half a million dollars, is based on the publication of gifts. Gifts have been stimulated by the credit given to the contributors. The publication of the names, and in many cases the pictures, of the donors has contributed to the success of the appeal.

Those who couldn't bear having their good works known by their fellow-men could give anonymously, but let us other weaklings get credit for what we do, and do better than we have in some of the no-publicity campaigns.

After all, the Bible does speak of both kinds of people. Jesus (according to Matthew) said: "Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven." He also said: "Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them: else ye have no reward with your Father who is in heaven."

THE GEORGES

The picture, "Howards of Virginia," shown at the Strand theatre last week, was a timely picture. It was the story of the American revolution, telling the colonial side of the argument, but it would have had just as sympathetic a response in Britain as in the United States. It was anti-King George III, or even anti-British (1776), but it was not anti-British (1941). In fact, it was just such a fight for democracy as British and Allied peoples are waging today.

It was strange, however, to come to the end of that stirring picture, with one's sympathies very much with the colonists, and then to have the picture of King George VI flashed on the screen for the singing of the national anthem. It is reassuring to ourselves to learn in this way that we are able to recognize the mistakes which British people or British rulers have made in the past. The strength of nations, as of individuals, depends to some extent on the ability to recognize past mistakes.

SHOULD PUBLIC UTILITIES BE TAXED?

In discussing Newmarket water and light department bookkeeping on previous occasions we have suggested that if the electric light department is going to extract its pound of flesh in charging for street-lighting and power for the water department, it should also make some allowance to the town in lieu of taxes. It is just a little question between electricity users and property-owners. Some people are both, but some are one or the other.

When we were writing the last time we cited Sault Ste. Marie. We now note that the Orillia water, light and power commission is this year making a two-mill grant to the town in lieu of taxes. Unfortunately, we haven't information as to charges made in Orillia for street-lighting.

What is done elsewhere we cite to show that there are two sides to the bookkeeping argument, and not to try to prove that our Newmarket administrators are wrong. Their desire to have the electric light department make a good showing on paper is natural and worthy, and any surpluses they may achieve are small reward for all the thought, time and ability which they put into the town's affairs without monetary compensation of any kind.

An interesting viewpoint on this question of taxation of utilities is presented by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. of San Francisco, in its house organ: "Up in the province of Ontario, Canada, there's a movement on foot to tax publicly-owned utilities on the same basis as other properties. Yes, that's the home of the Ontario Hydro power system, which is so often cited by public ownership advocates as an example for other communities to follow.

"News dispatches from Toronto, capital of the province, tell of conferences between representatives of the Ontario Municipal Association and the deputy-minister of municipal affairs with a view to obtaining legislative amendments to compel the Hydro and similar utilities to pay their share of taxes.

"In presenting arguments for such legislation, the association pointed out that in a recent year the publicly-owned Toronto Hydro-Electric system was taxed on an assessment of only $1,100,000, but, if it were privately-owned, its assessment would have been $10,300,000 and the city would have received $315,596 more in taxes."

WILLKIE

Popularity is a strange thing. A few months ago Toronto, probably in common with most Canadians, was gunning 100 percent for the election of Roosevelt as president of the United States. Now Toronto gives Wendell Willkie a reception said to be second only to that given their majesties, the king and queen. Is the reception given to Mr. Willkie as the representative of Mr. Roosevelt, or for his own sake? If Mr. Willkie can win Toronto in four months, he should be able to win the United States in four years. It looks like Willkie for president in 1944. More important than that, however, is the evident fact that the United States, potentially the most powerful nation in the world, doesn't intend to permit the Allies to lose the war.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

There is a world of difference between cities and towns which are planned and those which "just grow." Canada's western cities are splendid examples of communities which have expanded without undue growing pains. A fairly young eastern city like Toronto, on the other hand, finds itself with extraordinary traffic problems which will cost many thousands of dollars to remedy.

Newmarket's traffic problems are not acute because we do not grow as fast as Toronto, but we have our problems. We could solve these problems inexpensively but not quickly by planning the town's future traffic arteries, and by establishing building restrictions on property which the town should eventually acquire for widening of present streets or creation of new streets.

For instance, has Newmarket's Main St. a future? A little pipe-dream we have had for a long time is an example of an improvement that could be carried out over a long term of years but which would be prohibitively expensive as an unplanned undertaking. This is the acquisition by the town of all the properties between Main St. and the market square. There is not a new building in this block but three buildings have had new fronts put on them in the last couple of years.

If the town acquired all the buildings in the block, eventually, when they had outlived their usefulness, instead of being replaced, they could be torn down. The enlarged market square could be paved and used for parking, or could be enhanced with attractive lawns and flower gardens, and the business section be extended to front along Timothy and Botsford Sts. and the west side of the present market square. And new entries could be made into this square along the former radial right-of-way.

That is just an example. No doubt there are better plans for the improvement of Main St. Perhaps the best way would be just to widen the street substantially, setting the buildings back on one side of the street, and/or to improve greatly Cedar St. for transport deliveries to stores.

But the point is that the town could by means of by-laws, and possibly permissive provincial legislation, map out a plan for the future and serve notice on property-owners as to what new buildings or new fronts they could erect, so that necessary property could be acquired at a minimum cost when the appropriate time arrived.

The Globe and Mail (March 22) states that "property-owners throughout the province are suffering unnecessary hardship for the want of town planning. Toronto township provides the latest example. The fault does not lie at the door of the oil company, or at the door of those who have maintained the district. It does lie at the door of the council of Toronto township. But town councils are transient groups, changing from year to year, and there is no incentive and no onus to work out a long-range plan."

Pickering is said to have asked the province for planning help as a result of industrial expansion. Toronto city council has asked the Ontario government to appoint a "regional planning advisory board."

The Globe and Mail states: "Under the Planning and Development Act each municipality has the power to set up a local planning commission. Regional planning commissions are made up of representatives from these local planning groups."

YOUTH OF TODAY

(Smiths Falls Record-News)

There are those of mature age who at every opportunity like to belittle the youth of today. A pet phrase is: "I would like to see the youth of today go through what I had to go through when I was their age." Such a statement is unadulterated buncombe. The youth of today would in all probability have made a better showing than did the over-the-youth-age critic.

ROB ROBIN FINALLY ARRIVES

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"What are you so busy about?" Nutty Nuthatch asked an energetic Red Squirrel one morning.

"I'm building my nest," replied the Squirrel briskly. "And kindly don't bother me, I'm extremely busy. I've picked out my tree and we've got a nice start on it, if people would just not interrupt."

"My, my, you needn't be rude about it," the Nuthatch retorted. "I was just inquiring. I like to keep an eye on you Squirrels—especially in the springtime, when you are apt to get into mischief, as far as the birds are concerned."

"Well, you needn't make any insinuations," the Red Squirrel chattered. "Besides, I'm not concerned with anything but my new home just now. And by the way, it's in that big tree over there, and I don't want any interference from any of you feathered folks either. It's my tree. That's my final word."

"Your attitude is most unpleasant," replied the Nuthatch stiffly. "However, as I have no wish to quarrel we will let the matter drop for now. I dislike fights with Squirrels exceedingly. They are so very noisy and undignified."

"I'm glad you see it that way," the Squirrel called as he darted away.

"Sometime I'll forget myself and give one of those Squirrels a good, swift peck," Nutty muttered to himself as he slid down the treetrunk. "They're the most rowdy creatures and they think they own the countryside. Gracious, what was that?"

"You heard it too, did you?" another voice said in his ear, and Nutty looked up to find Mrs. Woody, the Downy Woodpecker, quite near him. "I was quite sure I heard a Robin carrolling," she told him. "I can hardly believe it, we've been expecting them now for so long. Let's go over there and make certain."

Nutty joined her and they flew over to a tree from which the song seemed to be coming.

"Flying feathers!" chirped Nutty in gleeful tones. "It's Rob Robin himself. Hi pal!" he said to him. "It's about time you showed up in these parts. We were beginning to think you must have got lost."

"Surely you didn't expect me last week," answered the Robin. "I thanked my stars I didn't come then. The group of Robins I was travelling with all agreed that the weather seemed rather threatening and that we had better not risk it. And our instinct was certainly right. It would have been ghastly if we had been here then. From what I hear, you had a perfectly dreadful storm."

"It was simply terrible," said the Woodpecker. "And so unexpected. We were quite worried in case you folks would come just as it started and freeze to death. Then we worried in case the storm caused you to lose your way while travelling."

"Oh, we were far enough south to be safe, thank goodness," Rob replied. "So after it was over we were rather behind schedule and made quite a quick trip up here. I'm still a bit breathless, but I'm going to be busy today, so I'll have to wait until tomorrow to get rested."

"Why, what do you have to do except eat, now that you're here?" asked Nutty. "The lady Robins aren't here yet, and so you won't even have anyone to sing to, will you?"

"Oh, but you forget," said Rob. "We men all find our own territory and claim it by singing long and loud, so that everyone else will know that they mustn't encroach on it. I must find the very best place I can this very day and then start singing vigorously."

"What sort of place do you want?" asked Mrs. Woody. "I'm always so interested in choosing homes. And, of course, we'll be doing that ourselves in a short time."

"Well, I think I'll get a place including a garden, and, of course, enough trees for protection," replied Rob. "I don't mind being on someone's verandah if need be. A garden is so nice for worms, you know, and simplifies the feeding problem. And if the folks are great gardeners and are fond of digging and weeding in their gardens, so much the better for us. The more worms the merrier, I always say."

"Oh, your ideas are so different from mine," laughed the Woodpecker. "I prefer a much more secluded place for nesting. And the very thought of worms is rather revolting to me—the long, wriggly ones I mean. It positively sickens me to see one of you Robins tugging at a worm that isn't very pleased at being chosen for your meal."

"It doesn't sicken me," chuckled the Robin. "It makes my bill positively water, when I think of a nice, juicy worm. Just listen to me sing about it." With that remark he began his jubilant carrolling again.

FRIENDS WED

By Isabel Inglis Colville

It was my privilege last Tuesday to attend the wedding of Harriett Anne Starr and Alfred Lewis Cope, and with the consent of the bride's parents, I am writing of the ceremony. All of us have attended weddings—in churches, in homes—some with every adjunct that makes for a beautiful pageant; some with the utmost simplicity of detail—but all following a nearly identical form.

The marriage of Quakers differs in some respects from that more commonly used, much as their form of worship differs from that of other sects.

Those of my readers who remember Tuesday the 18th, will remember it was no ordinary day. When neighbors and friends woke on that morning and ate breakfast to the accompaniment of a howling gale that lashed the trees into grotesque shapes and caused the telephone wires to sing a weird symphony; when drifts mounted and one could not see the home of one's nearest neighbor through the swirling snow, we all thought of the two young people starting that day on their adventure in matrimony.

The groom, groomsman, one of the bride's attendants and three other young men, had arrived, so the bridal party was complete, save for the father and mother of the groom, who were forced to turn back—after accomplishing half of the journey—by icy roads. The wedding was to take place at the home of her grandmother at 1.30 p.m. standard time, but from Newmarket, Aurora, Norwich and Vandorf, came word of the difficulties being encountered by those who were determined to be present.

For myself, wrapped like a mummy, I had fought my way through drifts and arrived breathless and triumphant just as Francis Starr passed with a sleigh to rescue those who might have gotten stranded by the way.

Time passed and no word came from any direction, then a car and the sleigh arrived, filled with cold, damp people — men, who had shovelled in the vain hope of getting through with their cars, and women who had sat and waited, and then, in the end, cars had to be abandoned where they were and all came as the pioneering forefathers came to winter weddings—through the snowdrifts, behind the good horses. There was still one guest who had telephoned that, having started from near Wesley church in a car, she had landed in a snowdrift, and being shovelled out was coming with horses and a sleigh. And so, after more adventures than usually attend a modern wedding, all the guests were assembled in the warmth and quiet of the home, and the ceremony began.

Preceding the bridal couple into the room, came Miss Anna Marie Henderson and Mr. Don Middleton. Miss Henderson wore a pretty wine-colored gown. Then the bride entered on the arm of the groom. She was attired in a gown of a soft shade of grey blue, of almost quakerish simplicity, which yet was charming and suited her exactly.

They were followed by Miss Huldah Starr, who looked lovely in brown, and who was attended by Mr. E. Kirk.

The bride and groom took seats at the top of the room. At one side of them sat the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emer Starr, at the other, Rev. Burton Hill and Mrs. Hill.

Facing each other across the room were the attendants, those who came in with the bridal couple; next to one of the attendants, sat the bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. E. Starr, and the rest of the guests were ranged around the room. We sat quietly for some time, each one busy with his own thoughts—perhaps like mine, visioning the new home that was coming into being that day and saying a little prayer for its happy future. Then the bride's mother spoke of the peace and security of a happy home life in comparison with the unrest and warfare of the present.

Again stillness enveloped the room, and then an old friend of the family, Mr. Joseph Clayton of Norwich, spoke. He spoke of the necessity of realizing that life was real and earnest, and that the soul must be fitted to go on, for "dust thou art, to dust returnest" was not spoken of the soul; that by meeting things with a strong heart, we can achieve the ends for which we are fitted.

After a brief pause, the Rev. Burton Hill prayed. He prayed for the new home that was coming into being, and the lives to be led in that home, and that we all, as individuals, might do our share in the world's regeneration.

Then the young couple rose facing each other, and with hands clasped, exchanged the old, old vows, which have never lost their potency. Following this the Rev. Burton Hill read the certificate, and then beginning with the newlyweds, the register was signed by all present. It was a ceremony, simple, solemn and direct and we who witnessed it will have it long in remembrance. Following congratulations, and showers of confetti, a delicious luncheon was served and later, accompanied by all the young people, as far as Newmarket, Mr. and Mrs. Cope left for Toronto.

The guests from Ohio will long remember this Canadian winter wedding, and feel that Canada can truly live up to her name of "Our Lady of the Snows."

At 3 a.m. eastern standard time, Saturday, March 29, nearly every radio station on the continent will be changed to a different channel.

The technical problem of reallocation of broadcast channels to avoid interference between the programs of the 1,300 stations on this continent, has finally been worked out satisfactorily by international agreement between Canada, United States, Cuba and Mexico.

Of the 106 channels, Canada will enjoy 14 clear channels in place of six and will share 47 regional channels on a signal strength basis, so that little or no interference will occur between stations as in the past.

GIVES TRAVEL TALK AT INSTITUTE MEETING

There was a splendid attendance at the Women's Institute meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. Boadwin on Thursday afternoon.

The meeting opened with the singing of favorite songs, followed by the roll-call. Miss Mildred Rachar rendered a beautiful piano selection.

Mrs. Boulton Hewitt gave a very fine description of her trip to the United States and also showed views of interesting scenery. A demonstration on "salad-making" was ably given by Mrs. W. M. Cockburn and Mrs. N. L. Mathews and was greatly enjoyed.

Reports were then received from the convenor of "Canadian Industries," Mrs. A. Brammar, and also from the war work committee.

The singing of the national anthem brought the meeting to a close, after which a social hour was spent.

THIS MACHINE CREATES SPEECH!

The recent Canadian tour of "Pedro the Voder", the machine that creates speech, has drawn attention to this eerie yet wonderful invention which entertained 20,000,000 visitors at the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs in 1940 and 1939. On his first visit to Canada, "Pedro" — accompanied by Dr. J. O. Perrine, of Bell Telephone Laboratories — was demonstrated before large audiences in Montreal, Toronto, and Hamilton.

The name "Pedro" is taken from an incident in the early history of the telephone. Alexander Graham Bell demonstrated his invention for the first time at the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition of 1876. One of his visitors was Dom Pedro de Alcantara, Emperor of Brazil. The Emperor was so startled at hearing a voice coming over a wire, that he dropped the receiver with a crash and exclaimed, "My God, it talks!"

So, when Bell telephone engineers recently constructed a machine that actually does talk, they called it "Pedro", in honour of the Emperor. "Voder" stands for "Voice Operation Demonstrator", because Pedro shows, by electrical means, the way the human voice is produced. Pedro is not a phonograph. He builds speech just as you do when you talk or sing.

When you speak, you call into play two entirely separate sounds — one produced by the vocal chords, and another by the breath alone. Instead of vocal chords, Pedro has an electric oscillator generating a "buzz" rich in overtones. For breath, he employs another circuit which makes a "hiss" in the loudspeaker. The buzz is the basis of the voiced consonants such as "m", "l", and "r", and vowels. The hiss is the basis of the sibilant consonants such as "s", "th", and "f", and whispers.

To shape these fundamental sounds into speech, you make use of your palate, tongue, teeth, and lips. For the same purpose, Pedro has electric filters, each controlled by a key, which divide either the "buzz" or the "hiss" into ten parts. Thus, there are 20 elemental sounds to be built up into speech. In addition, there are special keys for forming the "stop" consonants such as "t" and "b", a pitch pedal to enable the Voder to copy the inflections of the human voice, and a special switch for the "vibrato", a fluctuation both in pitch and loudness which is used to make Pedro sing.

By means of this keyboard, the operator can produce the 50 different sounds in the English language, combine them with the proper inflection, and vary their pitch and loudness for singing. Some sounds require the use of as many as five different keys at a time. To make Pedro say "concentration", the operator must form 13 different sounds in succession, make five movements of the wrist bar, and vary the position of the pedal from three to five times, according to the expression she wishes to give the word. All this must be done just as quickly as it takes you to say "concentration".

Pedro is just one of many devices constructed by telephone engineers to study the fundamentals of sound and speech — all with a view to constant improvement of your telephone service.

POLICE COURT

Court Reopens Wages Case, Reverses Ruling

Pamphlets, books, an amplifying set and five portable gramophones littered the Newmarket police court, when Mrs. Marietta Green and her son, Robert Mottram, R. R. 3, Newmarket, appeared before Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, Tuesday, to answer charges of being members of an illegal organization, namely, "Jehovah's Witnesses," and of advocating the principles of that society. Both Mrs. Green and Mr. Mottram pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Called to the witness stand by Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., County Constable Ronald Watt testified that on Nov. 29, 1940, as a result of information received he obtained a search warrant from the justice of the peace, A. M. Mills, under the authority of the Defence of Canada Regulations.

"In company with Constable James Sloss, and Constables Fast, Richie, and McKenzie of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, I went to the home of Mrs. Green," stated the officer. "On entering the premises I read the warrant."

Constable Watt explained that when he first arrived at the house Mr. Mottram was not there, but that he came in later and was present when he read the warrant.

"I asked Mrs. Green if she would like to read the warrant and she said that she would," continued the witness. "When she came to the part where it referred to 'his majesty, the king,' she said 'your king, not my king, Jehovah is my king.'"

Constable Watt testified that after he had cautioned the defendant, Constable Fast started to take notes. "I asked the accused if she were a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses. She said: 'Yes, I am. Jehovah is the only king. I will always work for him.' I asked her if she knew that the Jehovah's Witnesses were declared illegal. She said, 'Jehovah is never illegal. Why are you persecuting us, they do not persecute us in England.'"

Asked if he had found anything on the premises, Constable Watt said that he had. "On going into the living-room I found some gramophone records by Judge Rutherford. There were 83 double-sided records. On 20 of these are the name of Mrs. Green."

"Do all the records produced here today belong to Mrs. Green?" asked the crown.

"Yes," answered the witness. "I also found some religious books."

"Not religious, Christian," interrupted Mrs. Green.

"You can tell your story later," the crown reproved her.

"There are about 50 books all told in this bag," the constable testified. "They were all found on the premises. They are by Judge Rutherford and published by the International Bible Association. There were also some pamphlets."

"The pamphlet, 'Neutrality,' was that found on the premises?" Mr. Mathews asked.

"Yes, it was found in the living-room."

"Who is it printed by?" his worship asked.

"It is printed by the 'Watch Tower,'" answered the officer.

"I might say that I have read it," stated the crown. "On page four it deals with the Jehovah's Witnesses and also throughout. In this book, I may say, it does contain articles which discourage armed defence of nations, also the empire. It also suggests that one should not pray for the success of our nation against the enemies."

Asked if she would like to ask Constable Watt any questions, Mrs. Green wanted to know if the books looked as if they had been used recently.

"The books and pamphlets found downstairs looked as if they were in use," he replied.

Constable Fast told his worship that what the previous witness stated was correct. He added that he found a chart which described the distribution of books and pamphlets. It did not show that any had been distributed since 1939.

Chief Constable Sloss said that he and Constable Richie had searched the upper part of the house and found five portable radios and an amplifying set in a clothes closet.

"The amplifying set is used on an automobile," he stated. "We also found a black suitcase full of literature."

"What condition were these in?" asked the crown.

"I would say that they hadn't been used lately," replied Chief Sloss. "There were skates piled on top of the gramophones."

"Were you present when the literature was found downstairs?" "No, I was not."

"Do you know Mrs. Green?" "Yes, I do."

"Who composes the household?" "Mrs. Green and her two sons."

Called to the stand to give his evidence, Constable Richie corroborated Constable Sloss's statement. "I might add that the books we found are the latest published by the Jehovah's Witnesses," he stated.

"You have had considerable experience in these cases, what would you say was the relationship of the Watch Tower to the Jehovah's Witnesses?" asked his worship.

"I would say that they were identical," the witness replied.

"Who is the leader?" "It is Judge Rutherford."

Asked if she wished to tell her story or call any witnesses, Mrs. Green said that she did not want to do so. "I am not a member of any organization," she stated. "I am serving Jehovah. You see sir, we owe allegiance to a heavenly king . . ."

"No, I don't want to hear any of your religious beliefs," interrupted Magistrate Woodliffe. "If you do not wish to take the oath you may affirm your statement. If you do you will be cross-examined." The defendant said that she did not wish to give a statement.

"As far as you are concerned, Mrs. Green, if you have made up your mind to believe these doctrines, I can't change it for you," stated his worship. "Neither will punishment make you change your mind. But at the present time you must not desemble this literature among other people. You are breaking a law in doing so. I am going to consider the case and adjourn it one week for judgment."

His worship stated that he was sorry for these people, who were led to believe such principles. It was not really their fault.

Crown Attorney Mathews told his worship that he would get in touch with the department in respect to the penalty.

Robert Mottram pleaded not guilty to the charge of being a member of an illegal organization.

Chief Sloss told his worship that he had seen Mr. Mottram broadcasting Judge Rutherford records from his car in Newmarket previous to July 4, 1940, on which date the organization had been declared illegal. He had not seen him since that date and could not say who it was that distributed Jehovah's Witnesses pamphlets from door to door on two or three occasions since. He said that the literature had been distributed between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m.

Magistrate Woodliffe dismissed the charge against him.

With the consent of the crown the second charge against Mrs. Green and Mr. Mottram, that of spreading the principles of an illegal organization, was withdrawn.

Charges of "conspiring together to defraud his majesty the king during the year 1940," against Corporal Richard T. Gerard, Dunbarton, Norman E. Farr, Clifford Howard, Earl Lewis and Samuel McMillan, all of Toronto, were adjourned until Saturday, March 29, at 9.30 a.m. E. J. Murphy, counsel for the defendants, told his worship that his clients wanted to be tried by a higher court, and asked that a preliminary hearing be granted.

The men are charged with payroll padding and theft of building material in the construction of Newmarket military camp. Corporal J. B. Homan laid the charges against the accused men. Corporal Gerard and Mr. Farr were allowed $5,000 bail each. Clifford Howard, Earl Lewis and Samuel McMillan were each allowed bail of $2,000.

The charges of "uttering" and "forging" against Samuel McMillan were adjourned until after the conspiracy charge is heard.

A charge against Harry Mathews, East Gwillimbury, of failing to pay his hired man, George Wright, wages owing, which was heard in court last week, was opened again this week at the request of the defendant, who said that he could not appear in court when the charge was read because of the snow-blocked roads. Last week his worship issued an order that the defendant pay Mr. Wright the sum of $11.55.

When both men compared their books on Tuesday as to the amount paid the complainant, his worship was unable to find a solution. Mr. Wright stated he had been paid $60.71 and Harry Mathews put it at $70.61. "I am sure that I don't know whose bookkeeping is the best," Magistrate Woodliffe stated. "I dismiss the charge here. You will have to take it to division court to be tried."

Magistrate Woodliffe fined Harold Mathews, Gilford, $10 and costs or ten days for having an excess load.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that on March 10 he had stopped the truck owned by the defendant. He said it weighed 11,700 pounds, which showed an over-load of 1,700 pounds.

Walter Colburn, Whitchurch, for not having a 1941 operator's license, was fined $10 and costs.

A charge of fraud against N. Leon Connell, laid on complaint of Arthur P. Pollock, was adjourned until April 1.

On Friday Mount Albert continuation school held a very successful play in their hall. The play was exceptionally good and the net proceeds for the branch amounted to $75. The Mount Albert school and their teachers are to be congratulated for the generous spirit which prompted also most successful. Thirty-one tables played, the largest euchre ever held in the hall. The committee is grateful to all those who assisted, and to the players who were so patient while final adjustments were made to accommodate the unexpectedly large numbers. Mrs. Hisey and Mrs. J. L. Smith won the prizes for the ladies and T. Miller and A. Parks were the lucky men.

The euchre held at Sharon was this donation.

H. E. Lambert is County Campaign Chairman

The drive which opened this week with an address by that good will ambassador, Wendell Willkie, is a combined appeal for six war service organizations, each of which would otherwise conduct a separate campaign, as was done last year. These groups —the Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A., Canadian Legion, Knights of Columbus, Y.W.C.A. and the I.O.D.E.—have each been allotted to certain camps or areas, so that there is no duplication of effort to provide the hot tea and buns, games, recreation centres, writing material, educational classes, concerts, etc., for the boys on active service or in training.

At the last minute before the opening of the campaign, it was decided that York county should be divided into two districts and Harry E. Lambert of Newmarket was persuaded to take the chairmanship for that part of York county north of Steele's Corners, taking in from Markham and Vaughan north. Mr. Lambert is at present organizing the various municipalities for the canvass and has received an encouraging response. W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, and W. L. Bosworth, Newmarket, have been enlisted as vice-chairmen for North York.

As this is the only appeal that will be made by these war service bodies this year, the public is asked to give at least as much as their total contributions to the various appeals last year. With the prospect of the boys becoming engaged in more active combat and the forces being enlarged, the need is even greater. The boys are offering their lives, others can show their appreciation by giving liberally. If no collector contacts you, go to your banker or to the editorial office of this paper. Various plans of payment are arranged by mail or through the banks for donations in cash or by monthly payments.

Help the committee put over this drive to provide homes away from home for the boys in khaki. The folks at home can't let them down.

The fund is under government scrutiny and of the $5,500,000 required, the share in North York is $18,000. This is honest-to-goodness war charity, not a savings account—it is with no interest except the interest in seeing the boys well cared for. You may designate your donation for one or more specific organizations.

RAVENSHOE

Snow-plows Wind Up Season With Busy Days

March is showing what it can do. Three days of blowing filled the roads in this district. The snow-plows are doing good work, but are kept very busy. There has been a change these last few days, however. It is quite warm and the snow banks are slowly fading away.

Robins are here again with their cheering songs—another sign of spring.

Rev. Gordon Lapp gave an inspiring message at Ravenshoe church on Sunday, his subject being, "Jesus, the burden bearer." There was quite a good turn-out considering the condition of the roads.

Y.P.U. members are hoping that this winter's storms have gone, enabling them to resume their meetings.

BELHAVEN

A Plunkett dinner is to be served in Belhaven community hall on Monday evening, March 31, at 6.30 p.m., S.T.

Following the dinner, there will be a program of colored moving pictures which lasts about 40 minutes.

The Institutes expects to have a quilt to be sold after the program. At the last Institute meeting, it was planned that the W.I. members meet at the hall on Saturday afternoon, March 29, to make necessary arrangements regarding tables, chairs, dishes, etc., for the dinner on the following Monday evening. All members who can come on Saturday afternoon are asked to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry John Winch and their son-in-law, Mr. Harry Kane, visited Mr. Winch's brother, Mr. Wm. Winch, last Sunday afternoon.

The Bethel supper last Thursday was quite well attended, considering the sideroads and wintry weather.

The Aurora Era

YOUR CO-OPERATION INVITED AURORA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 27TH, 1941 SINGLE COPIES, 5 CENTS EACH

Says Many Town Children's Teeth In Appalling Condition

Dr. G. A. C. Gunton was the guest speaker at the Aurora Women's Institute March meeting, held this afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. John Klees.

The roll-call created a great deal of amusement as each member answered her name with a short Irish joke. The menu featured the Irish idea too.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. Closs, Mrs. L. Borden, Mrs. H. J. Charles and Mrs. Southwood. Chief feature of the afternoon was an address by Dr. G. A. C. Gunton.

Dr. Gunton traced the thrilling story of the discovery of anesthetics and told of the work of Dr. Horace Wells, Dr. W. T. G. Morton, Dr. J. C. Warren and others in their great research work and experiments. In all three cases the men who contributed to this great discovery died an unhappy death, he said.

"Now that the din of battle is long past and the contestants are beyond pain and strife, humanity should forever revere the memory of those men who did so much to mitigate its suffering," he declared.

"No matter what their individual motives were, we owe them a debt of gratitude which it is impossible to pay. Even if they were guilty of the things they were accused of, and Dr. Morton's conduct was not entirely ethical, has he contributed more to the betterment of mankind than were he strictly ethical and lived and died only as an ethical, professional man without a thought for those unfortunates who were and are daily subjected to surgical operations?"

The ideal age for a general anesthetic is middle life, although children take it readily and without difficulty, Dr. Gunton said. Women make much better patients than men.

"One reason I am discussing anesthetics today is that there are so many boys and girls of school age, suffering from infected and abscessed teeth that should be removed, who must of necessity have an anesthetic.

"It seems too bad that our school authorities have not taken advantage of the assistance offered by the provincial government in rectifying the appalling conditions, due to neglect or financial embarrassment, that exist in the mouths of Aurora children, whereby it is advisable and necessary for dozens upon dozens of permanent teeth to be lost in order to safeguard the health and comfort of these youngsters." He urged the Institute members to use their influence to rectify this condition. He dealt with the various types of anesthetics in use and told of the new intravenous type, which he predicted would, as its functions became more known, gradually come into use.

"A distinguishing feature between civilization and savagery has been the attempt to heal and at the same time lessen pain for the patient. Motherhood, difficult operations, a visit to your dentist, through anesthetics have been reduced from something fearful to a more normal procedure, in which the full skill of the surgeon, the doctor and the dentist can now be fully utilized."

Sixty York Rangers' Officers Are Now On Active Service

The Queen's York Rangers regiment has contributed more officers to the Canadian armed forces than any other reserve unit in Canada and about a full battalion of men, Capt. D. O. Mungovan told The Era this week. Over 60 officers from the regiment are on active service.

Lieut. from No. 11 platoon, C company, in a space of three months have gone on active service.

On Tuesday of this week four Aurora men and three Richmond Hill men started the trade course of the army at either Hamilton or Toronto. They were: from Aurora, Bob Hodgkinson, Don. Burling, F. "Mike" Bolton and Cecil Brown; from Richmond Hill, Reg. Watkins, G. W. Glenn and M. Hillaby.

These men, while still attached to the unit, are now on active service and will take a three months course, later being assigned to duty.

Others who have left the platoon for various active service units are: R.C.A.F., Glyn Morgan, M. S. Cooper and D. B. Ellis: Queen's Own Rifles, Corporal Jim Tran and W. Calbert; Royal Canadian Navy, J. Adams; Royal Canadian Artillery, M. M. Boyle; Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Gordon Tindale.

Previous to the New Year the platoon commander, Lieut. T. C. Line of Richmond Hill, joined the Perth Rifles and, of the men who commenced drilling in the town park last August, ten others also joined up.

Interviewed by The Era as to when an appointment was likely to be made to the vacancy, church officials intimated that commencing in April a list of "calls" would be heard each Sunday in the three churches. Quite a few ministers of the Presbyterian church are expected to seek the local appointment.

Manufacturing Begins At New Shoe Plant, 20 Start

On Monday morning Aurora's newest industry, the Grover Shoe Co., commenced operations, with about 20 employees at work.

This number has been augmented almost daily, as plant operations became perfected and the work developed for the various sections of the shop. New machines are still arriving at the plant for installation.

The Era understands that the samples manufactured and submitted to the trade have met with favorable response and a large number of orders have been received. The firm has also successfully patented in the United States, Great Britain and Canada certain distinctive designs and a new-type sole and heel.

It was a familiar sight to see male employees come up Wellington St. from the plant, but an unfamiliar one to see feminine employees issuing from the old Fleury plant.

Sign Language Is Used In Last Rites For Deaf Man

The death occurred on Sunday of Francis West, Machell Ave., in his 58th year.

He was born on Second St., near Queensville, the son of the late Andrew West. From the age of two years he was stone deaf and for many years entirely conducted his affairs in the deaf and dumb sign language. He attended the Belleville School for the Deaf and Dumb, where he met Rose Webb of Creemore, who, 24 years ago, became his wife. He was employed at the Toronto post office for some years and came to Aurora about 20 years ago, being employed by J. Fleury & Son, and, until last year, with the Fleury-Bissell Co.

The funeral service was on Tuesday at his late residence and at Aurora cemetery. Rev. T. R. White of the United church, of which Mr. West was a member, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. J. McGowan of Toronto, who spoke both orally and by signs. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Edna Quigley of Toronto, a brother, John, of Vancouver, B.C., and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Exelby of Toronto and Mrs. J. Bush of Winnipeg.

GRADS ARE BESTED BY A.H.S. REGULARS

Aurora high school senior basketball team, aided by some of the championship junior team, defeated the high school grads 13-9 in an exciting return tussle on Friday afternoon.

The old boys, lacking practice and condition, gave the interscholastic winners a closer battle than did the other league entries this year.

The grads floored only five men. Delroy Babcock handled the whistle.

School (13): Folliott, Hughey (3), Fingold, Rawlings (4), Griffiths (2); subs, Babcock, Stephenson (2), Davis (2), Burton, Campbell, Kyle, Stephens.

SIX APPEALS IN ONE—GIVE!

SUPPOSE your boy was on active service in Great Britain, Iceland, Newfoundland, or in a Canadian Camp far from home. You'd want him to have wholesome recreation, homelike social contacts and every possible comfort and happiness off duty.

The boys of our fighting forces are our own flesh and blood. From mine, sea, farm and forest and from city, town and village, they have gone forth as defenders of our safety, our homes and our way of life. They have broken home ties, left friends and loved ones, given up the comforts of home.

Six great organizations are united in asking for funds to see that those comforts are provided. Surely we, safe and secure at home, will provide them with moments of happiness.

Let the volunteer helper who calls on you carry back your pledge of loyal support for our fighting men. The boys rely on the folks back home. You never have failed them—you will not now . . . Give generously in this combined appeal.

Owing to bad weather and filled-in roads and lane-ways last Wednesday, the Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. Needler was poorly attended. # DOWN THE CENTRE

First team, goal, Ross Waddell, Aurora; defence, Tommy Myers, Newmarket, Ross Tunbridge, Aurora; centre, Bob Bangay, Markham; right wing, Bob Lawrie, Markham; left wing, Austin Baker, Markham.

Honorable mention: defence, Cliff Gunn and Gordon Bone, Newmarket; centre, Mervyn Broughton, Newmarket; wings, Bill Jelley, Bob Dickson and Jack Gibbon, Newmarket Ronald Rowe, Markham, Bruce Stephens, George Stark and Harry Pearce, Aurora.

Stardust: We come up this week with two all-star teams chosen from the four teams entered in the local junior C group. Contrary to custom we didn't cast one single teeny-weeny vote in the selection, and right here and now we must say that we agree pretty well with the choices. The fact is if we had donned the old dressing gown, reached for the trusty briar and gazed deep into the crystal ball, we couldn't have done a better job.

Who picked them? We heard you the first time partner, and we'll give you the inside dope. We asked seven persons to give us their selections. The clubs were represented by three, in place of four, Sutton not replying to us, so we wound up with six selections in place of seven.

Ernie Lawrie and Charlie Rowntree selected for Markham and Newmarket, President James B. Walker for Aurora.

One player was selected to make a choice barring his own position and we gave this honor to Frank Carr, who has had about the most experience actual and varied of any player in the group.

One fan was chosen and for this we picked Dennis "Shorty" Richardson, who saw more games than most people in the district and who by no sense of the word can be called partisan in his choices.

One neutral was chosen and we can't reveal his name as he asked to be left anonymous. Suffice to say he doesn't live here but in Toronto and he saw every team in action but Sutton. He has no relatives on the teams nor is he connected with the clubs, and in his day was a real player.

Basis was two teams first and second and, for the final tabulation purposes, first team choices counted two points, and second team choices one, and surprisingly enough it all added up nicely. In no case was a player left off the first team who had more first place choices to his credit than his rival on the second team. Second place points aided some of the boys in making the grade over their nearest contenders.

Five players stood out in the twelve teams picked. Ross Tunbridge was the only player to get six first team votes, five were for defence and one was for a wing position. The lone selector based his choice for the forward line because "he's really a forward but you can't leave him off the first team." Tommy Myers and Bob Bangay each got five first team votes, and Ross Waddell and Frank Carr were a virtual tie.

Goal: Ross Waddell nosed out Frank Carr by one scant vote and one of our comments received was: "Waddell had more goals scored against than Carr but with Tunbridge out of action he had no defence at all in front of him, whereas Carr was protected by really capable defenders. Waddell too is only 17 and Carr has gone back from his top form."

Both boys were the only ones considered in the voting and would be a real asset to any junior team. Consider this, however, when you turn things over in your mind. Jack Harper of Markham in 23 games to date has only had a total of 63 goals scored against him. He's a lot better than most people reckon. We think he should have got honorable mention at least.

The defence for both teams is a standout. Tommy Myers and Ross Tunbridge are almost opposites, as are Ike Harper and Nick Bangay. Myers and Harper are rugged bashers while Tunbridge and Bangay are the more clever individualists. Both the former are over age next year, and both the latter two are converted forwards and have more years in junior company. Nick Bangay gets his spot over Cliff Gunn and Gordy Bone by virtue of one first-team vote. Bangay's play on the defence has been one of the highlights of the Aces play in recent weeks since the group finals. On the basis of it all, the Newmarket defence, as we mentioned earlier in the season, was the best balanced.

Centre ice saw three boys considered. Evidently there is only one Bob Bangay in the minds of most, for he was easily top choice. Del. Beaumont, the rugged Aurora player, was his team's leading scorer and officially the third highest marksman in the league, and he made the second team. Merv. Broughton was beaten out by only one point in the voting. We think the Newmarket boy looks smoother than Del., but Beaumont, of course, has a much higher batting average and was an inspired player and easy to handle—a coach's delight, and he didn't back up from a thing.

Left wing see-sawed back and forth on the ballots. Austin Baker got the most votes and youthful Myles MacInnis, probably the most versatile player in the league, was second. Baker was overshadowed by his linemates and didn't get as many points as the others since Rowe was moved up from the second line frequently. Tunbridge got one vote here and the general consensus would seem to be that there isn't a single outstanding player in this position. Every other spot was polled more heavily for the first slot. MacInnis throughout the year and he could played every position but goal likely have done that. Rowe of Markham is another versatile lad, having done a similar job for Lawrie's boys and he is ten or fifteen points better in the scoring average than either Baker or MacInnis. Bruce Stephens of Aurora is one lad who, while he didn't get on either team or get many votes like MacInnis and Rowe, is only a youngster and possesses a great future, we believe. There is a threesome you can tab for future reference!

Right wing saw Bob Lawrie, the league's leading scorer, in first place and a host of choices for runner-up. Lawrie has an average of over three points a game. Briar Thompson of the last place Sutton team was his team's leading scorer and envious eyes were cast in his direction by rival managements. He gets the nod over Harry Pearce and Bob Dickson by means of one first-team vote. Pearce, on his season's play, clearly did not earn a place but probably, on sheer ability and his "spot moments," was the peer of any of them. He failed to show as good as he did with either East York or last year's Tigers. Dickson was the big opportunist for the Redmen and won them more games than any other player and scored more timely goals than any other player in the group with the exception of Bob Bangay.

The coach? We didn't ask anyone to name him, but casting friendship aside, we'll plump with, we think, the most of you for Ernie Lawrie of Markham. He has done a good job, unearthed a host of promising players year after year and bossed a team top-heavy with ability in every position. Markham, as you will see, places its regular forward line on the first team and its defence intact on the second team, which pretty well speaks for itself, and when Ernie Lawrie, in his letter to me said, "I hope you won't think I have leaned too much to my own boys," his selections, according to five others not from Markham, are just about O.K.

Privacy as to actual choices has been kept for two reasons. First of all, we haven't space to publish the individual selections. Secondly, we don't want to hurt anybody's feelings by revealing who cast the votes for whom. For instance, there are other years coming and at the time of writing Markham are still very much in the hunt.

Referee? We'll give Ken Holmeshaw first honors and Bob Morrison of Oshawa second as our all-star selections. On the whole the whistletooters didn't earn their money.

Brains? Bob Bangay, for his shrewdness, gets our vote. In a tough spot he knows the answers coming and going, and he has had a banner year in his final junior appearance. For four years now he's ranked with the best in the local group.

Clean play? We give you Ross Tunbridge from the defencemen and Myles MacInnis from the forwards. They both rate low in the hoosegow tabulations. MacInnis, we think, only had one all season, and Tunbridge two. Their penalties were all accidental.

Gameness? We call on the Sutton Junior Greenshirts and Frank Culverwell and his associates to take a bow. They played all home boys, met all obligations, finished in the red every game, pulled the biggest surprise of the season in defeating the Redmen in Newmarket and acquitted themselves creditably on all occasions. They were the real spirit of amateur sportsmanship.

Our thanks to those who have made these selections. They did a swell job, co-operated 100 percent and were unbiassed to a remarkable degree. Who could ask for more?

Honorable mention includes the players who got at least one vote. Biggest surprise is, probably, to find Howard Hamilton of the Redmen omitted entirely. However, that's the way it goes. Add Jack Harper from the Markham nets to the boys named and you could probably ice a team that would battle the firsts or seconds to the proverbial standstill.

Come on Markham, we want one championship in North York this year and sportsmen from this end of the circuit will be on hand to cheer you through. Our only advice is to get the team out of their own rink and on big ice where plays can function. That Parry Sound game in Markham just about caused everybody heart failure.

Maple Hill

Everyone seems to be enjoying the sunshine these days, after the long winter.

The Maple Hill pastor gave a very comforting and helpful message last Sunday from Psalm 51: 1, "Fret not thyself."

It was decided to change the services to the summer schedule on Easter Sunday. Sunday-school will be at 10.45 a.m., S.T., and the evening service at 7.30, S.T.

The Sunday-school will have an open session, with all the children taking part, on Easter Sunday.

If your kidneys are out of order and failing to cleanse the blood of poisons and waste matter—your rest is likely suffering, too. ## PEPPER AND SALT

By PEP

Herb. Cain played a good game for Boston in the 7-2 debacle which the Toronto Leafs pulled off Tuesday night and, with Reardon, was one of the two most potent of the defeated Bostonians. He scored one of the two Bruin goals. Even though the Bruins were badly beaten, I can't share any optimistic thought that it's in the bag for the Leafs from here on. It was the first defeat for the Bruins on foreign ice since Dec. 21.

There's too much power packed in the Boston lines for them to take a 7-2 defeat lying down. If they get Bill Cowley on the ice for the remaining games they'll rate, in my book, at least a 50-50 chance of taking the laurels. Chicago, without the services of an injured Bill Thoms, advanced to the semi-final round with Detroit on the same Tuesday night.

Some tips to skiing novices who may be packing away their skis for the summer may be worthwhile. In order to keep the bend and spring in the skis, they have to be "blocked" for the summer. It's the humidity that plays tricks on skis, so be sure that they are properly stowed away. Someone in the back row just said "what about moths?" I say ignore them, man, ignore them.

Out of our stack of mail (if Colonel Stoopnagle can have 63,875 people in his broadcasting studio audience, I can have a stack of mail) we notice a little verse by a northern reader. It's one of those Latin things.

Lightibus Outibus In Parlorum
Boyibus Kissibus Sweeta Girlorum
Daddibus Hearibus Louda Smackorum
Comibus Quickibus Witha Cluborum
Kickibus Boyibus Outsida Doorum
Boyibus Swearibus He Kissibus Girli Nomorum.

Pretty soon I won't know whether I'm conducting a pet shop or a newspaper column.

The Pickering college glee club is presenting Pinafore as its annual Gilbert and Sullivan production tonight, Friday and Saturday. As usual, many Newmarket young ladies are taking part in the production and it is to them the climax of months of practice.

It is expected that after the opening at the college this week the production will be taken on a barnstorming tour of military camps in this district to gladden the hearts of the soldier boys. Certainly it will be a worthwhile production to take on such a tour.

The operetta will be followed up next week by the Newmarket high school "open nights," on Thursday and Friday. A musical pageant given by the glee club in the auditorium and gymnastics in the gym will feature the open night. The glee club production last year was a brilliant success.

The badminton season is over as far as the Newmarket club is concerned and it was a season in which little playing was done. The stronger urge of skiing and skating put badminton in the background. Only with the church clubs was the game in prominence. The popularity of badminton, like tennis, seems to run in cycles in Newmarket and it won't be long before it will be the rage once again. In the meantime, the birds can feel safe.

QUEENSVILLE

Shot In Village, Bird Banded In Tennessee

On Friday evening the Queensville Red Cross is holding a big "red, white and blue" dance in Belhaven hall. Music for the evening will be furnished by Art West and his orchestra. Novelty dances, special decorations, prizes and lunch will go into making the evening very enjoyable.

A few months ago Maurice Huntley shot a starling on the farm of James Wright. The bird had an aluminum band on its leg, carrying a number. J. B. Aylward sent the number to the department of biology at Ottawa and received word this week that it had been banded by Mrs. F. C. Laskey of Nashville, Tennessee, in January, 1936, showing that this bird had travelled thousands of miles.

A military funeral was held on Monday for the late John Castle at his home here.

Mr. Castle, although in ill health for a number of years, died suddenly, having been taken to the hospital on Friday night, where he died early Saturday morning. The community extends its deepest sympathy.

Queensville United church held a special service of prayer for the empire on Sunday. Special prayers were offered. The choir sang the famous Kipling Recessional "God of our Fathers," by Vincent, and Miss Gladys Dew sang in fine soprano voice "Hear My Prayer," by James-Stickles. Rev. Hugh Shannon spoke eloquently on "Religion and Character," dealing with personal Christian living.

Despite the snowbound roads, the play, "Mother-in-law Blues," that was given in Queensville United church last Friday evening, was well received and enjoyed by all. All parts were well played.

This correspondent feels that a five-star performance was given by Miss Edith Haines in the roll of mother-in-law. She carried her part throughout the play the best of any of the characters, although it was a difficult part to play. A covered up smile could be seen at times on Miss Haines' face—and after all, are mothers-in-law really that bad? Perhaps folks are a little too harsh on them.

Miss Ruth Stickwood of Toronto spent last weekend at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou. Watts of Toronto were weekend guests at the manse.

Mrs. A. R. MacKenzie received word this week of her brother's death in Guelph. The late Mr. Elmore DeGuerre was known by a number here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Alexander and family spent Sunday visiting in Toronto.

Mr. Chalmers Black and his son called at the Hulse home on Sunday.

Anyone who has any news of interest is asked to let the correspondent know about it and help make the Queensville column more interesting—so, until the Red Cross dance on Friday night, so long!

Y.P.U. Will Entertain Neighboring Unions

At the United church last Sunday the services were exceptionally well attended and great interest was shown. In the morning the minister had for his text, "Cast Thy burden upon the Lord and He shall sustain thee." At the evening service, at which the W.M.S. were in charge, Mrs. T. C. Young, formerly a missionary in Persia, was the guest speaker and gave a very fine address dealing with the religion and habits pertaining to that country, of which one hears so little. Visitors were in attendance from Sutton and Bethel.

On Sunday, March 30, the minister will be in charge at both services. The morning service is planned for the fifth Sunday in Lent, continuing the messages dealing with "The Person and Purpose of Jesus," the minister's subject being "Jesus, the unobstructed path to God."

At the evening service the sermon subject will be, "Jesus, the ransom for many."

The Young People's Union will meet as usual on Monday evening. At this meeting they will have as guests the unions from Ravenshoe, Sutton, Bethel and Queensville and it is expected that Queensville, under the leadership of Murray Huntley, will provide the program for the evening. All young people will be welcome.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. MacKinnon during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of Queensville, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwards, Belhaven, and Mr. Robt. Bain of Emerson, Sask., who had not visited Ontario for 45 years.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Cecil Taylor for a few days have been the Misses Kerr of Toronto, sisters of Mrs. Taylor, and a friend, Mrs. Cook of Toronto. One of Mrs. Taylor's sisters is remaining with her, being convalescent after a recent operation.

Mrs. J. H. Prosser wishes to convey thanks to the friends and neighbors who were so thoughtful and kind during her recent illness.

Mrs. R. J. Stork is on the sick list, having been in the hospital for several days. She is at home now.

Mr. R. Cowan of Listowel is holidaying at the home of Mr. George White.

The regular meeting of the United church Women's Association will be held in the Sunday-school room on Thursday, April 3, at 2.30 p.m., standard time. All ladies are asked to be there as punctually as possible as Mrs. Halpenny, president of the centre presbytery W.A., will address the meeting. Convenors of the supper are Mrs. G. Hamilton, Mrs. O. King and Mrs. O. Huntley. A good program will follow the supper.

MORE MEN BEING CALLED FOR TRAINING

Draw Bigger Pay From the Start —Many Army and Civilian Jobs WAITING—Read How Other Men Trained for Promotion

ROY DUXBURY
of Brantford, Ontario

This graduate received his training from Radio College through a Home Study Course, which he completed in March 1940, and received his Government Certificate.

Our Placement Department immediately put him in touch with his first employer, and in only a few days after graduating he was on his way to New York City to join R.M.S. Nerissa as Radio Officer. His first assignment was on the run between New York, the West Indies, and Bermuda. On returning to New York he went to England on an armed cruiser, and was later transferred to service in Indian waters.

Although Mr. Duxbury has been in the service for only a short time, and is not yet 21 years old, he has already received pay increases and promotions in position. He is now serving in the Indian Ocean as Chief Radio Officer.

This case-history is only one of many, whose records may be seen at the offices of Radio College of Canada.

THE need for men trained in Wireless is greater than ever before. Never again may there be the opportunities that are YOURS if you act NOW! Canada needs—must have—many more wireless-trained men for vitally important war industries . . . as Radio Officers in the Merchant Marine Service . . . in the R.C.A.F., the Navy, and various branches of the Army. Get your training NOW, by studying intensively for a few months—without disturbing your present work—and so be ready, in either Civil or Army life, for higher standing, better pay, and more responsible work.

GEORGE H. ROBINSON

This student studied to be an Applied Radio Technician at his home in Stonewall, Manitoba. When he graduated we found him work with a Toronto Radio Dealer, and later with Eaton's Radio Dept. He then joined R.C.A. Victor. Today he is Sound Engineer for a chain of over 70 Movie Theatres in Toronto, responsible for full servicing, and makes many out-of-town installations.

AUSTIN WORTMAN

This successful student from Sackville, N.B., graduated from our Resident Course. We placed him with Philco Co. and later with the Test and Inspection Dept. of Rogers-Majestic. He became Asst. Quality-Control Engineer—a highly responsible position. He was recently selected as one of ten men from the whole of Canada to join the British Admiralty in a new Dept. of Radio Research, and was the only man of the group to be given the rank of 1st Lieutenant.

See how these other men succeeded—they studied the same courses that we now offer YOU. For over 12 years Radio College of Canada has been a leader in training men in Modern Wireless. Hundreds of other successful graduates all over Canada are the living proof that these courses are practical—that employers are eager to take our graduates. Our Placement Department receives almost daily requests for trained men—is now placing students in big-pay jobs directly they graduate. Today we have more jobs waiting than we can fill!

We offer you either of these practical courses, or a Special Military Short Training Course, designed for those wishing to join the R.C.A.F. You do not need previous radio knowledge for any of them.

Certified Wireless Operator

WM. BROAD STRICKEN SUDDENLY, WAS 85

William Broad passed away suddenly on Friday evening at his home in the village. He had been in his usual good health until retiring on Thursday night and was only ill a few hours before his death.

Mr. Broad was born in Reach township, Ontario county, 85 years ago, the son of Thos. and Ann Broad. He lived and farmed in this community all his life and a few years ago retired and came to Mount Albert to live. He is survived by his widow, formerly Josephine Rahmer; two sons, Alfred, Mount Albert, Horace, Melville, Sask., and two daughters, Mrs. Ross McGuckin, Mount Albert, and Mrs. Cyrus Pegg, Smithville. One son, Wilfred, died during the flu epidemic some years ago.

The service was held at the family residence on Tuesday, with interment in Mount Albert cemetery.

MOUNT ALBERT

Postmistress Retires, Lyman Pearson Named

Rev. R. V. Wilson attended a meeting of the Toronto east presbytery on Monday.

The Junior Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. W. R. Steeper on Thursday evening, April 3, at 8 o'clock. This will be the annual election of officers and all girls are invited to attend.

Misses Florence and Gladys Brooks spent the weekend with Mrs. W. L. Carruthers.

Ptes. John Oliver and Donald Stewart of Camp Borden are home on leave.

Guardsman Hugh Price, who is in a northern camp on duty, was recently operated on for appendicitis in hospital there, and is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Leadbetter, Joyce and Ray, spent Sunday at Goodwood with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wagg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Draper, who have been living in Shelburne, were in town on Saturday before leaving for Sarnia, where Mr. Draper will take up his new position.

The W.M.S. are holding a hot beef supper in the basement of the Mount Albert church on Wednesday, April 2. This is the annual birthday supper, to which everyone is invited.

Rev. R. V. Wilson is having special Lenten services at the United church at the morning services. At night, moving pictures of the life of Christ will be shown. These are especially worth-while for young people.

Mrs. H. Ross is retiring as postmistress. She took over the office some years ago on the death of her husband. The Ross family has had charge of the post office for 50 years. Lyman Pearson will be the new postmaster, taking full charge on April 1.

The concert on Friday evening in the hall was well attended. The play, "The House of Horrors," put on by the dramatic committee of the continuation school, in aid of the Red Cross, was one that rather kept everyone guessing from beginning to end and all the parts were so well taken one could not pick out any stars. Under the directorship of Mr. Butler, every little detail of the play had been worked out in a splendid way and it is a concert well worth repeating. The proceeds of the evening amounted to nearly $100, which will be turned over to the Red Cross fund. The young people enjoyed the dance at the close of the concert.

J. A. Tilley has been appointed chairman of the local division of the auxiliary war services fund. The canvassers will call at the homes within the next few days and would like everyone's support for this worthy cause.

Miss Ione Sinclair, R.N., of Barrie, spent the weekend with her parents.

Noel Calver has moved his family into the house recently vacated by Howard Morton.

Stanley Lunau has moved into the cottage owned by Mrs. F. Pegg on the back street.

Miss E. Hayes and Mrs. Slack are visiting their brother, Mr. E. Hayes, at Port Perry this week.

Mrs. Crowle and Mrs. D. Arnold are visiting relatives in Orillia and Gravenhurst this week.

The date for the public meeting to be held to make arrangements for sports day was incorrect last week and should have read Monday, March 31, in the town hall. Everyone is invited to attend and bring suggestions for a program.

The Horticultural Society will hold its monthly meeting in the board room on Tuesday, April 1. All members are invited to come. Send in your option and join up now and help make the village a place of beauty.

CLEVER ARTISTS ENTERTAIN AT SUPPER

The weather last weekend was very spring-like, and many took the opportunity of basking in the sun after the worst storm of March and the severe cold weather at the first of the week.

Friends are pleased to learn of the recovery of Master Harold Smith, who has been very ill.

The Boston supper, served by Bethel W.A., on March 20, was much enjoyed by the goodly number present. After the bountiful supper and delicious desserts, those present were entertained by some of the promising talent of the younger members of Bethel Sunday-school, Eileen Fairbarn, who played a piano solo, and Clarence Selby, who sang several solos.

Miss MacGregor of Toronto, a clever pianist, and a sympathetic accompanist of both solo and community singing, played the piano.

The elocutionist for the evening was Miss Thelma Squire, who held the interest of her audience by the clever interpretation of the characters she portrayed and the wide choice of her selections. Her skilful rendering of "The Burglar" was as acceptable to the adults as were "Tommy's Birthday Dinner" and "I Wish I Was A Preacher," to the juveniles. But the closing selection, about courage in hard times, was enthusiastically received because of its appeal to the heart.

Appreciation is expressed to all who made the evening so pleasant.

Bruce Fairbarn was the lucky winner of a portable radio from Pefferlaw on Saturday evening. Congratulations are extended.

Mrs. Selby Barker has been on the sick list. All hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cronin have moved to the farm vacated by Norman King.

E. G. WRIGHT WEDS HAZEL STOKES

A quiet wedding took place in the Queensville parsonage by Rev. Hugh Shannon on Saturday afternoon, March 15, when Hazel Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stokes, Sharon, became the bride of Ernest Garfield, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, Newmarket.

The bride was gowned in heaven blue crepe, with similar corsage heart roses. She wore the gift of the groom, a string of pearls. Mrs. J. Weston, Toronto, was matron-of-honor, gowned in soldier blue crepe with corsage. Pte. Herbert Wright, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, where the mother of the bride welcomed the guests in blue triple sheer, with corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in British blue crepe, with similar corsage. Mrs. R. Long, grandmother of the bride, presided at the tea-table.

Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left by motor for a short honeymoon. For travelling the bride chose a Windsor rose crepe dress with black coat and matching accessories.

SNOWBALL

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A CANADIAN, IS TOPIC

The Snowball branch of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Almonte Appleton on Wednesday afternoon. The roll-call was answered by "What it means to be a Canadian." The meeting was in the charge of Mrs. Jas. Badger, the Canadianization convenor. The hostesses were Miss Bertha Ferguson, Mrs. Appleton, Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Badger.

Mr. Bob Turp of the R.C.A.F., stationed at Jarvis, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Ernest Copson.

RADIO COLLEGE OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES TO MEN

The opportunities offered to young men by what are known as trade schools are probably not nearly as fully appreciated as they should be—either by parents who are anxious to help their sons take up a congenial and well-paid occupation, or by young men themselves. Yet these trade schools, often called the "Poor Man's University," are there for the sole purpose of giving ambitious men the technical training which makes them valuable to employers, and qualifies them for higher-than-average pay and prospects by lifting them forever out of the class of "unskilled" workers.

A leading organization of this kind is the long-established Radio College of Canada, at 54 Bloor St. W., Toronto, which carries an advertisement in this issue. It offers to men who are willing to study, day, night or home study courses in both wireless operating and in practical radio. These are fields of very profitable employment that many men have not realized. The sudden demands of wartime took almost every available skilled man out of industry into the army, navy or air force. Today there is actually a very serious shortage of men who are trained in radio. Men are needed in research and development of many new applications of wireless principles to industry. Others are required in forestry, aviation and allied communication services, both afloat and ashore.

A special course is also offered for those who anticipate joining his majesty's forces, qualifying them for higher pay from the start, and more rapid promotions.

Particularly attractive to men with an eye to their future prosperity is the unusual connection enjoyed by Radio College of Canada with leading employers all across the continent. A very live placement department under the direction of Frank Hobbs, vice-president of the college, places every possible graduate in congenial employment, and takes a personal interest in his continued welfare. In many cases whole graduating classes have had well-paid jobs waiting to receive them the day they finish their course. And the list of their employers would sound like a roll-call of every principal employer across Canada.

At no time in the history of this dominion, perhaps, have there been so many opportunities for the young man—or for the older man beyond present military age—provided they have the will and the staying power to study, and study faithfully for the few short months which can qualify them for a lifetime of congenial work at a more than well-paid occupation.

Canadians did not invent colds, but they certainly know what to do about them.

CANADIAN NASAL SPRAY is so bland that it has never injured the most delicate child, yet so effective that there is nothing better for adults.

At the first sneeze, sniffle or sign of a cold use CANADIAN SPRAY; it helps to open nasal passages and allow free breathing. Does not contain ephedrine or adrenalin; and will not injure the delicate living tissue of the membrane of nose or throat.

CANADIAN NASAL SPRAY and genuine DeVilbiss atomizer both for one dollar. Canadian Spray Refills only 35c.

GET THE FACTS AND YOU'LL GET A FORD!
IT'S THE BIG CAR with the THRIFTY Engine!

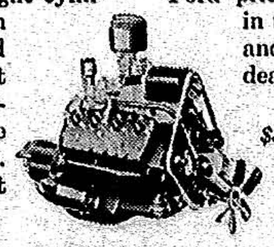

Have you seen the Ford . . . the big new 1941 Ford. In actual feet and inches it's the roomiest car in its price class. Greatest inside length! Greatest total seating width! Extra knee-room and head-room! Wider doors! Larger windshield! A spring-base that's inches longer.

It's the big car with the thrifty engine. Only Ford, at this price, is powered with an eight. Eight cylinders for smoothness as in America's highest priced cars. Gasoline economy, that has outstripped all competition in its class, in one official contest after another. Long life and reliability that persuades Ford owners to buy one Ford after another.

What's more, the 1941 Ford has that big car "feel"—that road-hugging stability on the curves or on the straightaway.

This year Ford riding qualities are a revelation—a completely new ride made possible by "Slow-Motion Springs," plus improved shock absorbers, new stabilizer, a more rigid frame.

Ford prices are still lowest. Get in touch with a Ford dealer and see what an attractive deal he is willing to offer.
